Food for thought

The power of reciprocal mentoring, Training Journal Deepening trust and belonging through reverse mentoring

Creating a culture of perpetual learning, Training Journal TJ asks six experts how leaders can create a culture of learning in the workplace

The surprising power of group coaching, HBR The benefits of small-group coaching come from powerful learning interactions among leaders who aren't on the same team but are roughly equal in experience and position, and the process can generate leadership development impacts that exceed what's possible in one-on-one coaching.

What's your language strategy, HBR Language pervades every aspect of organizational life. Yet leaders of global organizations—where unrestricted multilingualism can create friction—often pay too little attention to it in their approach to talent management.
